Synnex Technology International Corp.: 2006 Contract Manufacturing Profile

Published on July 2006

Report Summary

Synnex Technology International Corp. (Taiwan, Republic of China) is an IT distributor and a major provider of Camera phones: own brand, GSM handset, Handset - Own brand, and other products. THT's reports include essential information for OEMs, importers, buyers and distributors. Our company profile reports have three primary focuses: general company information, company contract manufacturing activities, and company financial performance. General company information includes company contact information, a list of product lines, company brands and brand rank. In addition, each company profile includes analyst notes on the general state of company performance and future plans. In terms of contract manufacturing activities, THT's reports detail company customer relationships, recent contract manufacturing deals, and sub-contracts, and have a special section devoted to contract manufacturing activities in China. Further, our reports provide information on company manufacturing facilities (locations, products and capacities). Financial performance data generally includes quarterly and annual data on shipments, sales, and revenues from 2001 through the current year forecast, gross profit margin, and product mix. We also provide available data on company shareholders, investments and acquisitions, distributors and affiliates, and conclude the financial section with analyst notes on the company's financial state and investment plans. THT's company profiles are drawn from a database that is continually growing; the exact data set included in each profile varies.
